MURDER AUTO CRASH FOUND

CLOSE NET ON SUSPECT IN POLICE SLAYING

Brother of Nashua, N. H., Dentist Sought After Big Touring Car Is Located

Police have found the automobile they believed was used by the murderers of Arthur Bower, Methuen policeman sent spinning to his death near "Petters' Paradise," on the Lowell-Lawrence State road.

With the discovery of the automobile touring car—in Nashua, N. H., they are positive they have hit upon the identity of the man who sent a 34 caliber bullet into Bower's body.

The arrest of the suspect is expected momentarily. The automobile was located by Chief of Police James Riley of Methuen, assisted by State police and the police of Methuen.

The car is owned by a dentist of Nashua.

The brother of the dentist is being sought by the police.

MARKS ON CAR EXAMINED

He is a well-known sporting character of Nashua and has been moving for two days—ever since the murder of Bower.

The car bears marks on its rear end such as might have been caused by bullets. The owner of the car claims it is in the garage during the evening of the murder, but the police have a contrary opinion, based, they say, on facts they have unearthed.

The police are keeping a close watch on the house of the dentist.

In the meantime police of three States, a dozen cities, and State detectives, have eliminated a dozen or more suspects from the baffling murder mystery, and are hunting a Lowell chauffeur.

He is Barney Banks, twenty-three years old. His mother lives at No. 725 Lawrence street, Lowell. He has a sweetheart at No. 123 Railroad avenue, Lowell. Banks was in the employ of the Lawrence Tannery Company.

He disappeared Wednesday morning, an hour after the shooting. Previous to the shooting he was seen at Roseland Dance Hall, 100 South Main street, Lowell, where he mortally wounded, in a prop himself on one elbow and enjoy his sin in the wake of a dark green car hurtling away through the dawn at frightful speed.

When Banks fled he took a dark

PRESIDENT HARDING CONTINUES TO GAIN

President Harding's popularity continues to gain. A recent survey of public opinion in the United States shows that the President's approval rating is at its highest point since he took office. This is due to his handling of the economy, his foreign policy, and his personal character.

ATTORNEY GEORGE DEFAULTS IN AUTO-LIQUOR CASE

Attorney William L. George of No. 4 Thibault street, Brookline, a son of the late Judge Elias George, and a widely known figure in local and society circles, defaulted today in a case involving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. George was taken out of the car at 7 o'clock this morning, after having spent the night in Station 7, East Boston, committed to the "lock" and started assembly for his home and bed.

SINGER HERE IN STEERAGE HAS MANY COSTLY GEMS

Providence, Aug. 2.—The visitations of an operatic singer in present day Europe, especially one of Russian birth persecuted by the Bolsheviks, has been told by Mrs. Maria L. Stordewitz, who saw America for the first time from the steerage of the S. S. Roma, which docked at this port.

Though coming here in the steerage, Mrs. Stordewitz brought with her pearls, diamonds, and rubies which she would not sell for money because she prizes them as the gifts from the crowned heads of Russia before the Czar was overthrown and from the Czar's son, the present Emperor of Russia.

Good News
What About the U.S.?
We Are the Conservatives
Mr. Ford Is Uncertain
By Arthur Brisbane

THE PRESIDENT is better, sleeping well, asked for the newspapers. All serious people for unity seem to be reassured. That is the day's best news.

SENATOR UNDERWOOD is not the first, second or third Presidential candidate filled, apparently, with the idea that the all important thing is to help Europe.

One or more of those candidates might be surprised if a real candidate came along urging the importance of doing something for the United States. We also have problems that need attention. Ask the farmers, the consumers of coal, the shippers on railways, and a few million others.

THIS is the world's conservative country, with things changed into a mixture of republicanism, bonditry and chaos, and Russia running under the kind of government that you know. Consider the difference, in radicalism, between the United States and the British Empire. One lone Socialist member will sit in our next Congress. Eighty Socialists, elected as such, vote in the House of Commons.

If you have a hatred for radicalism, let these figures comfort you.

IN ENGLAND, and all over Europe, "Labor party" or "Socialist party" means practically the same thing, except where labor is more radical than socialism. Here in America, labor has officially driven out and refused to affiliate with Socialists that came with the message. "The only way for labor to labor is to combine with socialism."

HENRY FORD, who does not know whether he is a candidate or not, deserves union labor as a great scheme to interrupt work. It speeds up the loafing.

Mr. Ford describes the proposed bonus as "an insult to the ex-service man."

F. PATTERSON, able Italian engineer, predicts that in fifty years ships that now burn oil instead of coal will give up oil and be driven electrically, the power sent to them by wireless from the mainland.

Many years ago this writer pointed out that the problem of power for flying machines would be solved by wireless transmission of power, now in its infancy, but soon to be practically successful.

ATTACKED IN TAXICAB WITH RAZOR

MRS. ALICE FRENCH

Riding in a taxicab, Mrs. French was attacked by a former schoolmate who jumped on the running board and struck her with a razor. The man then got into the taxicab, drove off, and was later identified by the driver.

RAZOR WELDER BADLY BEATEN BY MOB

TEN MILLION MEN wounded in the war are drawing pensions in different parts of the world, according to League of Nations statistics. Those horrified at such vast expenditure, destined to run on indefinitely, do not see both sides of the question.

THE PENSION that a man is allowed to spend for himself is the cheapest way of meeting the situation.

WARRANTS REFUSED IN 2 DEATH CASES
Judge Hayden in Roxbury Court today refused to grant subpoenas for warrants against Joseph George "Dumbo" Park, Roxbury, and James J. Foley of Tremont street, driver of a municipal garage car, van driver and killed four-year-old child in Roxbury last Sunday. And Foley, a street car motor man, ran down and killed a child named Helen Walsh. Judge Hayden refused to grant the warrants because the men were homeless.

PAID sentences treated Laron, for freeness of the mind and soul, and severe beating about the face and body.

BEING to the police, a young son of Mrs. French's was in the taxicab with her at the time her assailant attacked her.

FILE COUNTER LABELS IN SCHOONER CRASH

Englishman Who Ran Afoul of Police Here Is in Another Bloomin' Row
Of course you recall that old Maurice Friend—Captain Maurice Friend, H.R.M. Dragon Guards? Captain Friend, you know, of the Naval Club in London? And the Military and Cavalry clubs? Right? The very chap—the one who had his things made up by the Prince of Wales' tailor, old thing.

The very chap, who was sent on a mission to New York, was in the city in the past. He was a nuisance at the time. The police were hunting for him. He was sent to jail for a while. He was sent to jail for a while. He was sent to jail for a while.

WENT BACK TO WORK.
Well, of course, the story of the Englishman who ran afoul of the police here is in another bloom. He was sent to jail for a while. He was sent to jail for a while. He was sent to jail for a while.

HER JEWELS GONE.
Mrs. Norman told me in her own American way, read to me. She was in the city in the past. She was in the city in the past. She was in the city in the past.

HEIR TO THE FORTUNE.
Well, it is a story of a young man who was sent to jail for a while. He was sent to jail for a while. He was sent to jail for a while.

Mr. Shaver is saving

a year "by smoking

2710 E. 76th Place
Chicago, Ill.

The American Tobacco Co.
111 Fifth Avenue
New York City

Gentlemen:

I have always smoked "Bull" Durham, and your advertisements in the Chicago saving idea, caught my eye. I want to tell you of a little experiment I have just made.

I usually smoke about a package of "Bull" Durham a day, which costs me ten cents.

For a week I switched to the tailor made cigarettes and used two packages a day, costing me thirty cents. Figuring "Bull" Durham cost me $30.50 as against $10.50 for the other kind.

This means a saving of $73.00, which never occurred to me until I saw your ad.

Assuring you that I will always "roll my own" I am

Sincerely,
Sam Shaver

May 26, 1923.

BULL DURHAM and so can you

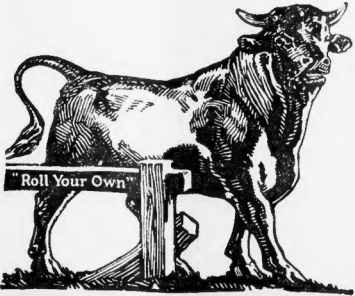

You will be amazed to see how the use of "Bull" Durham tobacco will cut down the cost of your smoking. Remember "Bull" gives you 50 cigarettes of the best flavor and quality for 10 cents.

This means easily a saving for the average smoker of from $1 to $150 a week—$52 to $79 a year.

Seventy-nine dollars will buy lots of things. A radio set, a talking machine, a very fine suit of clothes, a set of tires, the first fifteen payments on a Ford, a good-sized insurance policy.

Hard to roll your own? Not really. Give yourself a chance to learn. Have a sack of "Bull" in your pocket all the time as well as your regular cigarettes. Every time you think of smoking a cigarette pull out your sack of "Bull" and try rolling one.

By the time you've used the sack you ought to be a fair producer. And you'll certainly be a convert to the mild, delightful flavor of the unequalled cigarette that "Bull" Durham makes.

Now try it yourself and write us your experience

With each package you receive a book of 24 leaves of the finest cigarette paper in the world.

Spectacle of Bald Heads Putting Immature Girls Aroused Anger

Alleged promiscuous peeping parties carried on in broad daylight on the beach at Nantasket between sixteen-year-old girls and "bald headed sheiks" have caused Nantasket mothers to join hands in an attempt to combat the evil.

If the spawning does not stop at once, mothers of Nantasket are determined to do it.

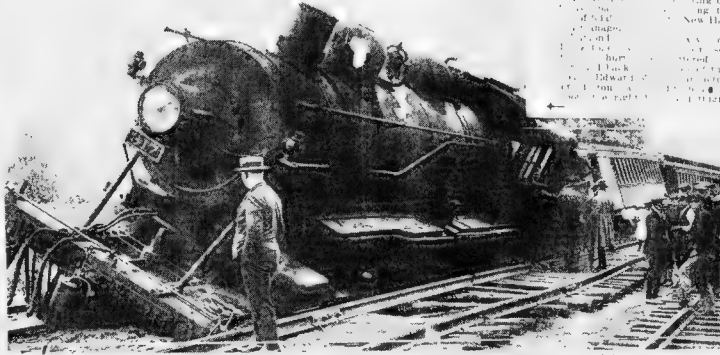

Miss Del. K. K. K. of W. Nantasket, a mother of six, says that she has seen many of the "sheiks" in the past few years.

"Forty-year-old sheiks are impeding the reputation of Nantasket. We, mothers, are going to get together to end the peeping party nuisance carried on here before the eyes of our children."

We Need 10,000 Fliers

The Government Should Train Them
Copyright, 1923, by Star Company

The National Aeronautical Association will offer one thousand free flying scholarships to young men over seventeen. One or two hundred young WOMEN ought to be included in the program.

Young women make excellent fliers. Their nerves in many cases are better than those of men. They ought not to be used if war comes to drop explosives or poison gas—women should never be killed. But they might well learn to fly to take the place of their brothers in the postoffice and forest fire service in case the brothers were called on to meet fliers or ships coming against us from Asia or Europe.

This country should teach not ONE thousand, but TWENTY FIVE thousand young men and women the very simple art of flying, destined to be one day as commonplace as the "science" of driving a little automobile.

A few days ago Eddie Stinson carried two passengers from Chicago to Garden City, Long Island, in eight hours, setting a new record. The flying machine is the thing; the battleship is extinct, a nice parade ground for nice old admirals with fine uniforms, otherwise not useful.

Ships that fly out of sight, in the AIR above, and boats that sail out of sight, UNDER the water below, will take care of this country.

Stop Anything--

But Not the Sunday Automobile
Copyright, 1923, by Star Company

The town of Ludington, Mich., made up its mind to be virtuous, cost what it may.

Many things there to be stopped: Sunday golf, billiard parlors, dance halls, theatres, etc. Bathing beaches were to close. Sunday newspapers were not to be allowed.

That seems quite complete, and perhaps it is all reasonable. But you protest against THIS.

The Mayor announces that he will personally issue warrants "against all persons driving automobiles for pleasure on Sunday."

Why not issue a warrant against all persons BREATHING for pleasure?

Motoring is merely breathing on a bigger scale. You get more air sitting in a car than you would get sitting indoors with the shades down, and the whole family breathes together.

The Ludington Sunday News says it will publish its Sunday editions, anyhow. Perhaps the virtue will die away. In any case, the automobile at least should be spared. It takes people on Sunday into God's country. That is good for their souls, for their health also.

The World Eyes Improve--

Although Individuals Remain Blind
Copyright, 1923, by Star Company

In the civilized State of New York, miserable creatures from the insane asylum were paraded before a judge, showing their bruises and their cuts, inflicted by paid attendants.

The scene was indescribably shocking and pathetic. But, fortunately, the fault was with individuals, not with an entire system.

Not so long ago the insane were treated as though possessed by devils, and public authority authorized it. Many religious souls believed that devils actually inhabited the insane. They were beaten, plunged for hours in ice cold baths, chained to a cold stone floor and otherwise maltreated, that the devil might be persuaded to leave and take up his abode elsewhere or return to the infernal regions. We have at least improved on that. Modern science has demonstrated that insanity can be ameliorated or cured by kindness and only made worse by cruelty.

Yes, Even Bankers

They Make Mistakes Sometimes
Copyright, 1923, by Star Company

Mr. Puelicher, president of the American Bankers' Association, tells the bankers at Cleveland that the gold standard and the Federal Reserve Bank saved America from the chaos that overwhelmed Europe.

Mr. Puelicher warned his hearers against the radicalism that is now so dangerous, etc. It was a very good speech, but Mr. Puelicher remembers that when the Federal Reserve Bank was first suggested at least 80 per cent. of the bankers attacked it as "radical, socialistic, unsound, etc."

It is just as well to examine "radical propositions" first and condemn them afterwards. The radicalism of today may be your salvation tomorrow. Ninety per cent. of the rich men here in 1776 thought it a fatal error to cut loose from England.

The 8-Hour Day? Yes

But We Need More Men
Copyright, 1923, by Star Company

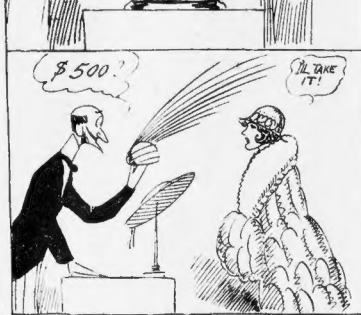

Steel men now discuss changing the twelve to an eight-hour day. The main problem is where to find the 75,000 men necessary for the change. Charles M. Schwab, at Hiram Johnson's dinner last Wednesday, said: "I read of 65,000 idle men in England. The steel companies would bring every one of them to the United States, giving them steady work at good pay, if they were allowed." Farmers, for some strange reason, have recently opposed immigration.

After they think for a while longer they may decide that keeping out immigrants isn't a good idea. Ten million immigrants would set a good deal of wheat.

SENATOR UNDERWOOD ON THE BANK OF THE RUBICON

By Herbert Kaufman

SENATOR UNDERWOOD failed to discuss the State constitution system in his speech before the Alabama Legislature.

He shall not be able to evade that issue when he presents himself to the country at large as candidate for the presidency.

Organized labor will demand his views; leaders of religion won't permit his convictions on that score to pass unchallenged; and every citizen who believes with Lincoln that slavery is intolerable to the spirit of democracy must be assured before he casts ballot that he is voting into the White House an avowed defender of the emancipation proclamation, which denies the sovereign right of any Commonwealth to traffic in American subjects to deliver them to bondage and its lash.

Alabama may no more resist national resentment against such a system than Florida could withstand criticism of its brutal penance camps.

Alabama may locally support its Governor and lawmakers in their endorsement of secession, but no presidential aspirant dares defend it.

Every citizen who loves his Rubicon. On what plank do you expect to cross yours, Mr. Underwood?

Make Them Moral Hospitals

Some day society will properly look upon its criminals chiefly as mental and moral delinquents—physically warped or without ethical training—handicapped by birth or environment.

Until we regard prisons as hospitals, until we place them under humane control, until we use every means to uplift the felon instead of tramping him further in the muck of viciousness, until we cease to exploit the malefactor for the benefit of contractors, until we teach these folk trades at which they can secure employment after release, correcting present practice, which confines their labor to occupations that no longer exist outside of jail walls, until we judge them as weak brothers who must be strengthened, not debased, we may never expect to erase the stripes from their souls.

Lees of the Cup

Europe, having counted tombstones, now proceeds to tally her half dead, ten million at the least calculation.

Canada has hardly more than ten million inhabitants. The population of all the States but two west of the Mississippi is less than that.

Franklin K. Lane, estimating the illiterate persons in the United States above ten years of age, at a similar figure vividly depicted their numbers by imagining a double line of marchers three feet apart, passing a given point for four months at the rate of twenty-five miles a day.

That's what ten million mutilated soldiers mean! Ten million men with shards of face and stumps for limbs—hopeless, abandoned dregs of regal intrigues and hereditary hates. There are the lees left in the cup with which their tag was tossed.

Banker and merchant and landlord cheered themselves hoarse as they set forth; women draped them with flowers. Heroes then—vagrants, beggars and ragamuffins now. The tools they dropped and the stools they left behind have since passed to able-bodied stay-at-homes.

The powers they fought to sustain find necessary funds to finance military forces, build fleets, erect airplane factories and extend munition plants, but none to feed and clothe their devils.

The path to glory ends in a swamp of ingratitude.

The Plans of Mice and Men

Two men lie ill respectively at San Francisco and London. One is the son of an obscure country physician, the other a possible King of France.

Wherever cables reach and wires stretch, peoples breathelessly await such tidings, the sickness of Warren Gamaliel Harding, whose highest byword ambition was ownership of a county newspaper.

A trumpet note in a few metropolitan dailies bears information that the Duc d'Orleans, whose royal exile ruled the wilderness in which Harding's forebears later cleared their cabin sites, is desperately ill in a London suburb.

Up and down the eternal news wires. The great and the humble change place over night. A Hohenzollern yields his throne to a hussar-cadet. A shabby little Russian Jew borrows carfare from Bronx waiters this year and struts where Czars alone once walked, the next.

But all their might is as nothing to that of tiny sovereigns of earth and air, to whom every Caesar must render final tribute. Orleans, hunting in African jungles, falls before the infernal lance of a malarial mosquito; President Harding is prostrated by a pneumonia-coccus. Kissmet!

At the Keyhole of History

It is the morning of his coronation. Citizen-General Bonaparte is about to become Napoleon the First, Emperor of France.

The world has turned topsy-turvy. A little Bourgeoisie Colonel rules in the halls of the Louvre. What devotion must be surging through that strange, implacable brain!

Paris is a riot of bunting, streets resound with the tread of regiments. Through the open window he hears the distant buzzing of the excited livings.

His million twitches. He strives to conquer a smirk of self-satisfaction. Valets appear. They garb him in robes of State. His eye dwells fondly upon velvet and ermine. But he visualizes his mounting destiny! Does his pathetic glance pierce distant horizons? What means this dilation of proud nostrils, the tensing of that wide-swung jaw? Is Napoleon already setting the universal chessboard for one of his Titanic games?

Yes, you can bet not! It is dollars to crullers that he's thinking of the old jag at Ajaccio—saying to himself: "How I wish they could see me now! They would laugh when I said I would 'get there. Men die! But I'd give a lot if 'skiny' Ludd or 'Red' Dupont would only stick his head in the door this particular minute."

Great men are simply great in big ways. Crowned crows change human nature. There's a mighty little difference between the knif of Grandfather Adam.

VITRIOL TO RESTORE BEAUTY

"Law Not War"

Editor Boston American:

This "Law Not War" campaign that is being waged is, to my mind, running pretty close to the border of lunacy, that quality that was for some people the everlasting contempt of their fellow-citizens during the war. No one wants war, least of all those who have ever served in the army.

But experience has taught that laws do not mean very much when some unscrupulous ruler sets out to "lead the world."

I believe in law to the limit. I also believe that, when law is flouted by some ruler, that the country trying to keep the peace by that same quality "law" is going to be very much out of luck.

There are some people who only understand the language of the first. There are times when some nations only understand the language of war.
